ACTOR ATTACKS STAGE MORALS

London Comedian Says Immorality Appalling

BY CHAS. MCANN.
LONDON, July 20.—"Don't let your women go on the stage. Its immorality is appalling."

"It is almost impossible for a girl to be what she ought to be if she goes on the stage. Unless she has money, a man, or a manager to help her through, it is a terrible difficulty for her to get anywhere at all with her career."

That is an actor's view of the British stage, given by "Wee George" Wood, a famous comedian, at a Rotary Club dinner at Manchester, when he was made a member of the club.

London actors, actresses, and managers say it is not true.

The accusation struck them like a blow in the face. Wood is one of them—a veteran and a leader—but he is the least-liked man on the stage just now.

Coelra Says Its Lie!
"I never heard such a gross lie in my life," said Charles B. Coelra, England's greatest producer.

"Perhaps no man has had more experience of stage life than I have, and I can say definitely that there are only two things which will get a girl ahead on the stage—talent and hard work."

"A girl may go wrong and a man may, through influence, get a girl on the stage; but she won't stay there long in a good show without both talent and hard work. The audience are the judges, and no amount of booming or boosting will keep a girl in a big post unless she has talent."

"Wee George" Wood's statement is absolute rot, and wicked rot at that."

"It is talent, and nothing else, that counts on the stage today," said Miss Barbara Golt, leading lady in "Lilac Time" at the Lyric.

"I had neither influence nor money behind me, and have climbed from small parts to leads, and I know scores of actresses on both the variety and legitimate stage who have done as I have done."

"There are temptations on the stage as in all walks of life, but to say that this is the rule rather than the exception is a wicked lie."

Playing and Being
Another of Wood's statements in his speech was:

"It is almost impossible for an actor night after night to play at love without feeling it. If you play with emotion it will play with you."

He referred to the chorus girl, "on $15 or less a week—a life in which bullying by a stage manager plays quite a prominent part."

"Don't tell me this isn't true," he added; "I have seen too much of it." It is a fact that a chorus girl gets around $15 a week in a London chorus. In the provinces she may get $7.50, and out of it she is supposed to keep herself in food and clothing and to pay for lodgings.

Some girls do it. A few support themselves entirely on it. Others, a good many, manage to buy food and pay for lodgings and car-fare and depend on their families for clothes. A few have money of their own. Then there are the others.

There is no secret about the salaries. Anyone who goes around town knows girls who receive them, and support themselves or fail to support themselves on the money.

Those who keep themselves straight are taken out to dinner occasionally; not very often, on the road. They live in London mostly; when they are on tour they live together, three or four of them, in dingy rooms, and cook most of their own food.

Old King Cotton May Take Lead Again in Lone Star Produce

FORNEY, Texas, July 18.—Old King Cotton may take the lead in quantity output in the Lone Star state but for quality, hay, the paragon of horse feed, still holds sway, according to Mayor C. L. Duke.

The mayor has a 500-acre meadow in which he recently started a crew to work. They have a lot of excellent quality for which Forney is noted all over the state.

Several years ago this section boasted of many thousands of acres in this product but as the price of cotton advanced the hay crop has gradually been nosed out.

GOULD'S WIDOW UNVEILS HEART

Declares Future Hope Lies In Children

NEW YORK, July 20.—A lonely, but plucky woman, the beautiful widow of George J. Gould, has spoken to the public for the first time. Her words, her manner, her personality, even off the mantle of mystery that has been wrapped about her since her marriage to Mr. Gould in May, 1922.

Nine years before, at a London tea party, Catherine Sinclair, daughter of an English nobleman, and her husband, the young Mr. Gould, were introduced to each other. They were introduced to each other by a mutual friend, a young American world traveler, Anthony Drexel and George J. Gould, then began a romance that touched the heart of the few intimates of George Gould and Miss Sinclair and culminated in their marriage.

Thinks of Children

Constantly the thought of this remarkable woman turns to her children. In the afternoon, sturdily little George, now eight years old, trundled his bag of chips to the first tee of the golf course and played a round. George is a sturdy little brunette, well-mannered and quick of thought.

"George is very athletic, like his father. Mr. Gould was the most athletic man I ever knew. He did so many things for me. I feel terribly lost without him. We were all so all to each other."

In a flash was revealed the end of the woman George J. Gould loved and married.

Restraint, though, gripped her again when she spoke of the future and her plans.

"None Ever Happier"

"We had been so happy. After our marriage in New Jersey, we went abroad and in August we went to Grand Castle, in Scotland, for the shooting. I am a good shot. Mr. Gould was a great shot."

"I don't think any man and woman in the world could have been happier than we were while we tramped through the shooting preserves with the dew on the heather."

"And in the future?"

Fearlessly came the answer:

"My home and my children."

Mother Sobs For Girl Who Pushed Lad to Drowning

'Her Mind Has Never Been Right,' Is Mother's Plea as Neighbors Point Out the Vacant-eyed Daughter as Slayer

CHESLEY, Mass., July 20.—A mother sobs in a room in the prohibition home today, staring vacantly at the wall while the house folks point her out to visitors as a murderer.

She is Elizabeth McDonald, 23, a girl who pushed a boy to his death in the water.

Pushed Boy to Death

She is said to have told police that she was pushed into the water by a boy named McDonald. The young McDonald had a "sunny" disposition and was a relation to her. He was last playing together in the water when Petty pushed him down through the screen door.

It's mother is distressed.

"She's a girl on the edge of a breakdown," she has been told. "She says that she doesn't know what she did. She says she was pushed into the water by a boy named McDonald. The young McDonald had a 'sunny' disposition and was a relation to her. He was last playing together in the water when Petty pushed him down through the screen door."

Wanted to Take Her Away

Her father died last November. She wanted to take Elizabeth away from home but couldn't let her go. "Now I suppose I will lose her. She didn't know anything. She didn't know what she was doing."

"I've only got two left, Mabel and Johnny."

The boy's body was found floating in the water near the wharf Monday. A verdict of accidental death was returned by investigators but a new probe was begun when the children in the neighborhood began whispering to their mothers Elizabeth's denials.

6 ADDITIONS TO HEALTH SERVICE

Four more government appointments of Port Arthur men to the staff of the U. S. Health Service station in this city were received by Surgeon T. J. Liddell from Washington, D. C., this morning.

Doctors C. A. Penman and F. D. Mabry were appointed for the X-ray service; O. C. Gerhardt, city bacteriologist, is to do the special laboratory work; J. E. Graumier, to make all ambulance calls. All appointments go into effect immediately. Dr. Liddell said this morning.

Surgeon Liddell was also informed that the government has entered into contract with Mary Gates hospital for government ward cases and private rooms if necessary, and that all routine laboratory work is also to be done at the hospital.

The staff of the Port Arthur branch of the U. S. Health Service to date is as follows:

Surgeon T. J. Liddell and Dr. J. Y. Bailey, clinic, located at the federal building; Dr. R. R. Orrill, general medical consultant; Dr. E. W. Vaughn, eye, ear, nose and throat, operator and consultant; Drs. Mabry and Penman, X-ray; O. C. Gerhardt, laboratory.

ONE DEAD, ONE HURT WHEN GUNMEN DUEL

William Morgan, 32, Was Shot to Death and Peter Brown, alias Shelly Brown of Kansas City, Was Wounded in a Gunfight Between Police and Alleged Gangsters Here at Midnight

Brown is said by police to be wanted in Kansas City in connection with a bank robbery. Two other men in an automobile with Morgan and Brown were injured when the machine crashed into a telephone pole. Police found two shotguns, three revolvers and a large amount of ammunition in the car.

STICKING STAMPS

VANDERLIP SEES A THIRD PARTY

Banker Says Leader Must Head It

CHICAGO, July 20.—Frank A. Vanderlip, former head of the National City bank, declared today that a third political party in 1924 is possible if the right man appears to lead it.

The banker would not name such a man.

Vanderlip advised that although the people are "undeniably restless" the business situation of the country is wholesome.

He blamed the restlessness on lack of practical inspired leadership in Washington.

The banker, he asserted, should be able to get a fair price for his products, but added that government purchase of surplus wheat is dangerous economics.

Vanderlip predicted that the economic condition will work out so the farmer will "get his share" in as much as the nation as a whole is stable and prosperous.

The capitalist with his family are on a vacation tour across the country, and at the same time Mrs. Vanderlip, with her husband's assistance, is promoting the Hot Peace Prize.

Magee's Counsel on Trial For Alleged Contempt

LAS VEGAS, N. M., July 20.—Richard E. Hanna, counsel for Carl C. Magee, Albuquerque editor convicted of libel for editorial utterances came before Judge David J. Leahy today to defend himself against proceedings designed to suspend him from practice in San Miguel county.

The attorney has already been found guilty of direct contempt of court in connection with his defense of Magee, and awaits sentence. The prosecution, it was understood, will seek complete disbarment of Hanna because he spoke from a public platform in defense of Magee during the libel cases.

BUNK, HE SAYS OF CONFESSION

Prosecutor Skeptical in Reason for Seizing Woman

TULSA, Okla., July 20.—County Attorney Goldberry investigating the held torture case of Mrs. Pearl Hyster today, after questioning the woman and a newspaper reporter, who claims 12 masked men "confessed" to the abduction and torture of Mrs. Hyster Monday night, said he had no clues to the identity of the men responsible for the alleged attack.

"The story of the twelve masked men 'confessing' that they had been lured by this woman to a room and then blackpainted don't look good to me. In the year, the masked dozen were purported to be prominent businessmen and Tulsa business men."

"Why would prominent business men get together on the proposition if they had paid out large sums of money to the woman to keep it quiet? It looks like dime novel stuff to me, as far as I have gone," Goldberry said.

Jessica, Ex-Follies Girl Now a Real Countess

CHICAGO, July 20.—Jessica Brown, who used to be third from the end in the first row of the Follies is today the eleventh Countess of Northesk, mistress of four English towns and country-homes and Ethel Castle, said to be haunted.

Miss Brown and David Ludovic George Hopetoun Carnegie, the earl, were married here last night in the office of Frank T. Jordan, an attorney.

Broadway must now call Jessica Lady Rosehill.

SOLDIER BONUS NOT FOR WIVES, RULING

INDEPENDENCE, July 20.—The first instance of a Kansas judge refusing to allow a wife to share in the state soldier's bonus occurred here today.

Judge J. W. Hottel ruled that Mrs. George Farman, who is suing for divorce, should get no part of the $500 due her husband, a former soldier suffering from tuberculosis.

The judge ruled that if the husband gets well enough to earn a living he must provide $15 a month for the support of his children.

Very few people can cry over the suffering of a woman who has lost a million dollar necklace.

MID-CONTINENT REFINERS CLOSE

Crude Surplus Blunting the Markets

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 20.—Seventy-five per cent of the oil producers in the Mid-Continent oil field have shut down their refineries to alleviate the surplus supply of crude oil which is glutting the markets.

It was announced today by John D. Reynolds, secretary of the Western Petroleum Refiners Association.

According to Reynolds, the action was in response to recommendations of the association that all refineries in the Mid-Continent fields suspend operation pending removal of surplus oil on hand at the refineries.

"Under the present conditions, the producer is getting very little profit," Reynolds said. "Officials of the association believe a complete temporary shut-down of the refineries will lead to restoration of more nearly normal prices."

In the North Atlantic, and welcomes any reports of its position. It broke apart from its station on the Nova Scotia coast and has been repeatedly reported during the course of its travel eastward, a portion of which was shown on the back of the Pilot Chart of North Atlantic for April.

Atlanta Severs Connection With Organization

ATLANTA, July 20.—"The mother" of the world's "Klans" Nathan Bedford Forrest Klan No. 1, today has severed all connections with the national organization.

The action of the first chapter of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan to be organized was taken in a resolution which declared it would carry on its work independently until "such time as the national organization has been 'purged' and different officials placed in control."

The organization claimed that the national organization has in its hands funds belonging to the chapter. The chapter was recently suspended by the grand dragon of the state for alleged non-payment of dues.

STOLEN THOUGHTS

The golden crescent of the new moon hung above the market house, and the night was cool, spring-like, and perfect.

Five or six men were sitting in front of the Hutchins House; and they gradually shifted their chairs until they were almost in a group.

They were men from different parts of the country, some of them from cities thousands of miles away. They had been rattled in the dice box of chance and thrown in a temporary cluster into the hospitable gates of the Magnolia city.

They smoked and talked, and that feeling of comradeship which seizes men who meet in the world far from their own homes, was strong upon them.

They told all their funny stories and compared experiences, and then a little silence fell upon them, and while the hanging stream of blue smoke grew thicker, their thoughts began to wander back—as the cowboy homeward at eventide—to other scenes and faces.

"And over them many a flaming range of vapor buoyed the crescent back."

And rapt thru many a rosy change the twilight melted into dark."

Quoted the New York drummer, "Heigho! I wish I was at home to-night."

"Same here," said the little man from St. Louis. "I can just see the kids now tumbling round on the floor and cutting up larks before Laura puts them to bed. There's one blessing though, I'll be home on Thanks giving."

"I had a letter from home today," said the white-bearded Philadelphian, "and it made me homesick. I wouldn't give a foot of that slushy pavement on Spruce street for all these balmy airs and mocking bird solos in the south. I'm going to strike a bee line for the Quaker city in time for that turkey. I don't care what my house says."

"The worst part of it is," said the man with the gold nose glasses and green necktie, "that our dear ones are separated from us by many long and dreary miles, and we little know what obstacles in the shape of storm and flood and wreck lie in our way."

"Renlie the many pitfalls that Fate digs in our path? What a slight thing may sever the cord that binds us to life! There today, tomorrow gone from the world!"

"Too true," said the Philadelphia man, wiping his spectacles.

"And leave those we love behind," continued the other. "The affections of a lifetime, the love of the strongest hearts, ended in the twinkling of an eye. One loses the clasp of hands that would detain and drifts away into the sad unknown other existence, leaving the loved ones to mourn forever. Life seems all a tragedy."

"Danged if you ain't rung the bell first shot," said a Chicago drummer. "Our affections get busted up some thing worse'n killing hoes."

The others frowned upon the Chicago drummer, for the man with gold glasses was about to speak again.

"We say," he went on, "that love will live forever, and yet when we are gone others step into our places and the wounds our loss had made are healed. And yet there is an added pang to death that those of us who are wise can avoid. It is sweet rolling in knowing that those we leave behind are shielded from want."

"Gentlemen, we are all far from home and you know the risks of travel. I am representing one of the best accident insurance companies on earth, and I want to write every one of you. I offer you the peace, death, partial disablement, loss of finger or foot, nervous shock, sick benefit policy know to—"

But the man with gold spectacles was talking to five empty chairs, and the moon slipped down below the roof of the market house with a sardonic smile.

MANGUS JOHNSON, "THE TERRIBLE SWED"

Minnesota has spoken and Mangus Johnson is a United States senator. Thirty years ago he was a humble glass blower in Sweden. Now he is a dirt farmer in Minnesota, his wife is American born, he is the father of six children and there is a barn on his farm that cost $7,000.

He has humbled the pride of President Harding. He has overthrown the administration bosses of Minnesota, he has whipped to a frazzle editors of the great daily newspapers of Minnesota and conservative citizens of all types of politics and all schools who view with apprehension the radicalness of his utterances and the broad sweep of the legislative policies which he championed during a most exciting campaign.

Minnesota in normal years is republican by an overwhelming majority. Minnesota is looked upon as one of the most progressive-conservative states of the union. Minnesota was largely settled by Swedes and Norwegians and Danes but this was in the long ago and the population today is not foreign for the second and third generations of the early pioneers from the Scandinavian countries are in the saddle in the rural districts of the state.

Their grandfathers never scratched a republican ticket. Their fathers occasionally scratched a republican ticket. Now these third removed from the original stock are wheat farmers and cattle raisers and they vote as they please. A year ago the farmer-laborer voters of Minnesota elected Dr. Henrik Shipstead to the senate. They defeated Hon. Frederick A. Kellogg, an old guard republican and one of the brilliant orators and lawyers of the northwest. It was an amazing victory for the farmer-laborer politicians and voters.

Now they have repeated the victory and Mangus Johnson will take his seat in the senate in December as a member of the LaFollette bloc, holding allegiance to neither the republican or the democratic organizations. There are six senators of a kind and Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin is their accredited chieftain.

These six will hold the balance of power in the new congress. They will be able to dictate to the democrats or the republicans unless there comes a fusion of democrats and republican senators to control the senate organization, the important chairmanships and committee assignments and the legislation which is to be given the right of way.

LaFollette and his lieutenants backed Mangus Johnson in his sensational campaign. Samuel Gompers backed him. Democratic and republican radicals from the northwest and mountain states backed Johnson but the farmers of Minnesota and organized labor gave him the victory by a plurality of more than fifty thousand.

There is no democratic party in Minnesota. Its men of wealth and its professional politicians with but few exceptions voted for Governor J. A. O. Price who went down in defeat; but the democratic farmers and wage workers deserted their own candidate and helped to swell the great plurality rolled up for the terrible Swede.

Governor Preus was the Harding candidate. He was the administration candidate, he was touted as the candidate of all men who believe in what they love to describe as orderly government, constitutional legislation, business administration and individualistic efforts.

According to his political enemies and newspaper critics Mangus Johnson embodies in himself the reverse of all these. He is for the repeal of the Esch-Cummings transportation act; he is for the fixing of the prices of farm products by the government; he is for doing away with five-to-four decisions on the part of the supreme court of the United States by drastic legislation; he is for curbing the rapacity of the great financial kings of America; he is for a legislative program that will give the farmers and the wage earners greater recognition everywhere under the American flag and for the absolute rule of the people regardless of political bosses of any or all party.

The dirt farmer of Minnesota is as radical in his legislative beliefs as it is possible for an American to be without being denounced or branded as a socialist and the most significant feature of his election is that the farmers of Minnesota gave him the bulk of his vote. In the senate he will look to Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin and Senator Brookhart of Iowa as his political mentors or guides.

He has a choice for president. Henry Ford is his man. Mangus has the courage of his convictions. He never sidesteps. He declared in every speech that he made that he would like to see Henry Ford president of the United States and intended to vote for him for that high office.

President Harding is under the northern lights. His candidate and his administration and the policies of his administration have been repudiated by the voters of a republican state. His own candidate, Governor Preus, before the campaign had been half finished, swapped horses in the middle of the stream by denouncing the republican tariff and declaring himself a low tariff advocate.

This didn't save Preus. This did not save the Harding administration. This did not save the old guard organization or machine. Mangus Johnson, dirt farmer and "Terrible Swede," a cyclonic orator who scorns to wear a collar, and was the butt of ridicule for his intellectual opponents from start to finish, has given the old school politicians of America the shock as well as the surprise of their lives.

To add insult to injury, Senator Brookhart of Iowa, just home from Europe, asserts that if President Harding will make three speeches such as he made in Missouri, Kansas and Colorado, Henry Ford will be elected president of the United States next year by a popular majority of ten million. "Where do we go from here?"

SAINT ROSCO

Roscoe Arbuckle has scored a comeback. He kissed his wife in a public street in the city of New York in the presence of fifteen hundred spectators and all the papers the next morning printed his moon-faced mug and gave him scare headlines. It was a tremendous out of news and the sensation of the hour. Roscoe may be a fat fool but he knows how to go about it to break into the public print. Water is his beverage, he eats out of wife's hand, when he gives a party he invites relatives only and when the curfew rings he hastens home. This is what a night of pleasure did for the fat comedian of the movie stage.

A Missouri mob lynched a negro and now the authorities have made the discovery that their victim was innocent of the crime for which he was hanged. Why sorry about it? Wasn't it a night of sport for the lynchers? And how did the mob know that he was innocent?

Senator Oscar W. Underwood has declared for the Wilson League of Nations. This makes it interesting all around. There are millions of Wilson democrats. Where are they going?

LETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

DEAR JACK:

Glad to get your letter. I'm awfully sorry for you, old chap.

You are certainly getting your share of trouble. My advice to you now that you know that Leslie is getting every possible care that could be given her and that it is given with much better methods than you could give it, is to settle down to your work. Do not stay in the sick room thinking about yourself, and help you to lay up a few dollars for Leslie's benefit when she recovers, if you turn to your work with a will.

Oh, yes. I know that it rather hurts your pride to think that Leslie's father is putting up hundreds of dollars to pay for your wife's illness, but it would hurt your heart worse if you had to reimburse your own resources to reimburse the nurses and specialists who are curing for Leslie now.

Leslie's father, of course, would not see his daughter want for the slightest thing to make her comfortable and I consider that you are very fortunate in falling in love with a girl whose father has as much money as Leslie's has.

By the way, I have had a letter from Paula Perier, (late to infect P. P. into your life just at present). I thought you might perhaps be interested to know that she is going out to Hollywood to go into pictures. You remember she always did photograph pretty well and I think she will strike her gait out there.

She has said nothing to me about the child since that first wire saying she had been born. I haven't the slightest idea whether it is alive or dead.

Life's a queer thing, isn't it, Jack? Here is Leslie who, if what you told me is correct, is slowly dying because her child, born in respectability and well-to-do, was taken away from her, and poor little Paula, who probably did not want her child, to whom it was a shame and disgrace, is saddled with one.

Treat it with as much derision as we may, after all, old chap; it is the woman who pays.

Honestly, Jack, I believe if I were a woman I would start out to give every man I know as much trouble as possible. I hear you laughing as you read this and I know you are saying, "What an old sentimentalist you are, Syd."

Perhaps I am, Jack, and it is because I am that I have never felt like inflicting myself upon a woman I have never seen a man yet who was worthy the least worthy woman, and when I marry I want a good woman for my wife.

Whenever I find myself falling in love I find myself asking, "What have you got to give a good woman?" and I draw back immediately. We ask so much and give so little, we become bored so easily and all the while it never enters our minds that by any possibility we are stupid at times ourselves.

There, I'm going to stop writing. It isn't like me to sermonize, you know that, Jack. Neither do I set myself up in a position as one of those "better than thou" critics, but somehow this blooming coincidence of babies has got my goat. Yours, STD.

TOMORROW—John Prescott answers Sydney Carton—The tragedy of a lost child.

BANDIT'S WIFE GIVES BACK STOLEN GEMS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 20.—Jewelry valued at $3,500 stolen from the home of L. R. Grudis the night of June 30 was returned today in a package posted at Omaha, Neb. Accompanying the articles was this letter:

"I am sending this stuff back to you, as I do not want my husband to make a living for myself and family in such a manner. I remain, "Wife of Bandit No. 1." Five bandits held up the Grudis home and addressed each other by numbers. No. 1 appeared to be the leader.

Little Old Lady, After Desertion Dries Tears, Goes to County Farm

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 20.—Deserted in the declining years of her life; left to die alone and friendless. That was the fate of Mrs. Annie Wiley, 69 years old, whose only fault was that she loved "not wisely but too well."

When her husband died, Mrs. Wiley listened to the silver tongue of her nephew, her only living relative, and was induced to turn over her small inheritance to him. Her tragedy dates from that time.

For months she struggled to keep a roof over her head, but the battle was too great for her waning strength. Her case was reported to the Humane society and Tuesday she was taken to the Tarrant county farm for the aged.

It was a bitter cry for the proud old lady, but she dried her tears and smiled at the matron when she was admitted to the institution.

"God will take me soon," she said. Mrs. Wiley will do tanning and sell it to provide ready money for her few wants.

"NOBODY'S MONEY"

An advance notice says: Not only does William LeBaron's creative story-telling genius come to the screen in the Paramount picture version of "Nobody's Money," starring Jack Holt which comes to the Pearce theatre Saturday and Monday, but much of the humorous dialogue that has made famous the play by LeBaron has been transferred to the silver-sheet by way of the titles.

With Wanda Hawley as the girl opposite Mr. Holt and with Julia Faye, Robert Schable, Harry Depp, Josephine Crowell, Eileen Manning, Will R. Walling and James Neill in the cast, LeBaron's stage success becomes a snappy comedy-drama.

"RACING HEARTS"

An advance notice says: Theodore Roberts is again a gruff parent with a heart of gold in the role of John Kent, father of Virginia Kent, played by Agnes Ayres, in "Racing Hearts," a Paramount picture, which comes to the Peoples theatre next Sunday Monday and Tuesday. As in "What's Your Hurry" a comedy-drama starring Wallace Reid, Mr. Roberts again has the role of a rich automobile manufacturer who refuses to recognize the value of modern advertising. # Personality In One's Hands Help in Making Successful Hostesses

PERSONALITY in one's hands. One has heard of a woman's personality making her popular among her friends, but who ever heard of a woman's hands possessing personality? But if one'll learn to use them properly one will gain in charm and esteem, says Margaret Anglin, famous American actress. If you think you are slipping in esteem among your friends, that your personality is waning, watch your hands in her advice.

Many women make a poor impression on others, she declares, just because they do not know how to use these important appendages.

"It is surprising how many women, who know how to assume otherwise correct and graceful positions, spoil the whole picture by awkward and ungainly hand positions," she says.

To get your personality "across" it is essential that the hands be used properly, she declares.

If you, as a hostess, wish to welcome guests cordially to your home, smiles and kind words are not enough. To make the guests feel absolutely welcome the picture of your joy at seeing them must be complete. The hands must synchronize in this picture with the other welcoming symptoms.

How is this to be done? "Well," says Miss Anglin, "begin by not trying to study certain gestures to accompany certain words or phrases. This would lead to artificiality, and artificiality is the unforgivable sin in the category of gesture."

"Study your hands even though they are not pretty they can be made to seem so by proper use. Experiment until you find positions in which yours are seen to best advantage."

"Then practice, allowing them to gesture slightly in accord with what you are saying. See if they truly emphasize your words. If they do not, then do not get up at all."

"Always remember that no gesture at all is far better than one out of harmony with the rest of you."

"When you have found that you add to your personality by certain gestures, incorporate them into yourself by practice."

"They will not become truly beautiful and beneficial to your appearance until they have become so thoroughly part of you that they are made unconsciously. The studied gesture, made consciously is never pretty."

Miss Anglin believes that every mother of a daughter should begin early in lessons of correct hand posture. The child who gets an early start toward hand and arm gracefulness has an asset that every woman covets, she declares, and one which will reach its highest perfection when it "grows up with the girl."

"To do this, instruct the child never to make an obvious gesture, that is, one so pronounced as to attract attention on the hands. Teach her to make the simplest gestures possible which yet bring out the full force of the conversation. And, above all, teach her to make the gestures unconsciously."

"And once again, let me warn you," says Miss Anglin, "no gesture at all is better than an ungraceful or affected one."

MANY and varied were the problems pertaining to community life discussed at the quarterly session of the Federated Missionary societies yesterday, chief among which was Rev. W. E. Blackstock's urging of proper chaperonage for the young people at outdoor entertainments during the summertime, especially at the beach. Many of the members of the Federation are mothers, and were heartily in accord with Rev. Blackstock's views, and the Federation went on record as advocating proper chaperonage for young people on all occasions.

The morning session was opened with the devotional service in charge of Mrs. A. L. Humphreys, and during the business session, Mrs. W. J. Steck, president of the Federation, made a short talk urging better attendance of the churches at the board meetings.

The program, prepared by the women of the First Methodist Episcopal church, was presided over by Mrs. A. F. Graham, the opening number being a charming vocal selection by Mrs. Carl A. Batcheller.

Rev. Blackstock's talk concerning occasional Bible schools dealt with the benefits derived from such Little Miss Marie Lane of Sabine entertained with a delightful reading, "Foolish Questions," and responded with an amusing encore.

A delectable luncheon was served at noon by the women of the First Baptist church in their new dining room.

Mrs. William Oeschger conducted the afternoon devotionals. Rev. W. I. Caughran, pastor of the Congregational church, told of the teaching functions of the church, and in the round table discussion, which followed his talk, ways of attracting children to Sunday school and means of holding their interest were discussed.

Mrs. W. A. Martin conducted the round table discussion.

Miss Beth Palmer, who recently graduated from Delta University, delighted her hearers with a beautiful vocal number, "I've Done My Work."

Miss Birdie Latham, who is spending a short vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Latham, spoke to the members of the various missionary societies and told them of the relationship of the church and education. She also told of the Church of All Nations in New York, where she has her headquarters in the social service work.

Mrs. D. C. Higginbotham spoke of the Bible instruction in the public schools and the need of religious education in the public schools.

Following these talks on education in the public schools a committee, with Mrs. D. C. Higginbotham as chairman, was appointed to meet with the Sunday school superintendents of the various churches in the city and make some plan for Bible study in the Port Arthur public schools, and arrange to have students receive credit for work done.

Brother Wives Fifty Dollars to "Tramp" Deported by Mexico

EL PASO, Texas, July 20.—Just one hour too soon was a tramp who applied for aid to the Associated charities here the other day.

In applying for aid the man told Mrs. Carrie Hooper, charity worker, that his brother was head of several large corporations in the town from which he came.

"I am a tramp," he said, "and I have just been deported from Mexico as a disreputable character."

The charity worker wired his brother and the man was given food and clothing. The next day he called to express his thanks and then left.

Within an hour after he had gone a telegram, in answer to the one sent by the charity worker came. The brother had wired fifty dollars, but the tramp was one hour too soon.

Clever Cache of Booze Found Under Turnip Patch in Beaumont

BEAUMONT, Texas, July 20.—"Mr. Fintey had a turnip and a patch behind the barn." So reads the first line of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's premier attempt at poetry.

A man here had a turnip and it grew on his cellar door. Possibly not so rhythmic, but the turnip's place on the cellar door was of more importance than the one behind the barn.

Prohibition agents, searching a local residence for booze found that a patch of turnips had been planted over the cellar door.

When the turnip patch was removed along with the door some 100 gallons of mash to be used with several bottles of the finished product were found in the cellar.

Unlike Mr. Fintey, the owner of this turnip patch was arrested.

AVERAGE TOURIST LIKES TO TRAVEL IN ROUGHS

EL PASO, Texas, July 20.—The average automobile tourist in Texas does not like to put up at pay camps where there are as many conveniences as at home.

They like to "rough it," in the opinion of R. A. West of Big Springs, Texas.

Texas. West is an experienced auto tourist and has been on the road for several months. He is now on his way to California.

The majority of tourists like to stop at auto camps where there are trees, shade and water, but they do not like to go to camps where they must pay for all the conveniences of the home. They like to cook and sleep in the open," he said.

MAUGHAN FAILS, ASKS NEW TRY

Gen. Patrick Says Airman
Must Wait a Year

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan, "speed king of the army air service," will not be able to make another attempt at the dawn to dusk transcontinental flight until next summer, Major W. H. Frank, executive officer of Major General Patrick, chief of the air service, said today.

TRIP FAILS WHEN PIPE BREAKS

ROCK SPRING, Wyo., July 20.—"I'll have a third try and make it, if they'll let me," Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan, army flier whose second gallant try at spanning the American continent between dawn and darkness ended in heartbreaking failure here yesterday when the airman was within a few hours of his goal, awaited orders from Washington today.

Frank pointed out that by the time Maughan's little high speed plane had been put in shape and all other arrangements had been completed for another flight the length of daylight would have become too short for the lieutenant to make another attempt at the flight with a fair chance of succeeding.

"Already about three quarters of an hour in daylight has been lost since the first attempt," Frank said. "By the time everything would be ready for a third try another hour would be lost and Maughan would be under the handicap of about two hours less daylight."

New Engine Needed
It was pointed out by Major Frank that a new engine would have to be installed in Maughan's plane, and a number of other arrangements made, taking a good deal of time.

Frank expressed the opinion that a third try at the dawn to dusk flight could not be made until next June.

Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service, is en route to St. Louis, where he will arrive late today.

Grudgingly surveying the little plane which had sprung a mechanical defect that alone prevented his triumph, Lieutenant Maughan declared emphatically he wanted to try the flight again. It was his duty, he said.

The end of Maughan's second attempt at an all day transcontinental flight came in somewhat the same manner as that of his first, although he had covered twice the distance. It was through a fault of the engine which the most skilled mechanics had not foreseen, and could not repair for hours.

Loose Race With Sun
A tiny stream of oil, spurting from an aperture in a pipe of the speeding plane's engine caused suffocating flames to fly into the face of the pilot as he held his Curtiss bullet on its westward course. For a time he fought off the consequent nausea,

The Clay I Use

White, refined super-clay
By EDNA WALLACE HOPPER

Some think that facial clay is new. Not so. Beauticians of all ages have employed them. Most of the famous belles of history owed their beauty to complexion clays.

But, until late years, few women fostered and preserved their beauty. Now millions do, and clay is a prime essential.

What I owe to clay
About 1900, French beauty experts taught me the use of clay. Now, at a grandmother's age, I look like a girl of 19. After 32 years as a stage star, I still play young girls' parts. And millions marvel at my youthful beauty.

I have supplied my methods to scores of friends. They enhanced their beauty by them, and they kept their youth. So I am convinced that most girls and women can do likewise if they will. And I am going to help them.

A perfected clay
The clay I use is not the crude and muddy clay so many use today. That is out of date. Able scientists in France have been studying clays for 20 years and over. And they have perfected clay.

They have found there are clays, mineral-based, which bring maximum results. They have learned how to refine them to remove the ugliest mud. The clay I use is white and clean and delicate.

They have found added factors which bring manifold results. So my White Youth Clay will be a revelation to a user of other clays.

Clay is essential
No girl or woman can look her best without the use of clay. Now can a woman keep her youthful bloom and air—contour, as I have. Users of clay stand out in any crowd. Clay purges the skin of all that clogs it—the causes of sallowness, blackheads and blemishes.

It draws the blood to the skin to nourish and renew it. The result is a rosy afterglow, then a lasting new complexion.

It firms the skin, combats the cause of wrinkles, takes out lines, reduces enlarged pores. Thus it gives and maintains a smooth, soft, baby-like complexion.

The results are amazing—almost unbelievable at first. Many women in 30 minutes seem to drop ten years. And my girlish face, at my grand old age, shows what constant use can do. You cannot afford to miss these benefits. They mean too much to you. But use a modern scientific clay. My White Youth Clay, they tell me, is the last word in facial clays.

Edna Wallace Hopper's White Youth Clay is now supplied by all druggists and toilet goods dealers. Price 50c and $1 per tube. Also my Youth Cream, based on lemon and strawberry. This should follow the clay. Also my Facial Youth—my famous liquid cleanser. Also my Hair Youth, which brought my luxuriant hair. My Beauty Book comes with each.

In fairness to yourself, see what Youth Clay does. You will ever thank me for it. If the first tube fails to delight you, your dealer will return its price. Edna Wallace Hopper, Business address, Waukesha, Wisconsin.

No girl or woman can look her best without the use of clay. Now can a woman keep her youthful bloom and air—

PREPARING FOR HARVEST

Alaskan natives are preparing for the "tourist crop" that is following in the wake of President Harding's tour of the northern territory. They are using their primitive tools to carve exquisite figures in ivory, and are stitching away on moccasins and leather goods.

taking the air from Cheyenne, Wyo. his third stopping place on the flight from Mitchell Field New York in a sickened condition. At the border between Wyoming and Utah, he could stand no more and the spirit that held Maughan's eyes on the western horizon, where the Rockies soon were to loom, could not overcome the handicap.

With less than 600 miles to go and the sun, straining on ahead in the unequal contest, still high enough in the heaven to make his venture of a dawn to dusk flight possible, Maughan was forced to circle back, while over Green River, Wyoming and swoop to earth at Rock Springs, landing on the aerial mail service drone here.

HARDING SEES ALPS OF ARCTIC

President's Party to Return
After Seeing Sitka

WITH PRESIDENT HARDING, ENROUTE TO CORDOVA, Alaska, July 20.—One month from the date he set out from Washington, President Harding today was making his last stop before Vancouver. His last stop but one in Alaska, and thus had very nearly completed the study of the northland which actuated the trip.

Leaving Valdez, last night, the transport Henderson stopped at Cordova today, where the Copper River section would be visited, and then the transport will proceed to Sitka for the last stop before Vancouver.

It has been one of the most strenuous trips any chief executive ever attempted, for in spite of considerable periods of inactivity on the boat, most of the time has been filled with stops, conferences, sight-seeing tours and similar activities.

The party faces another month of equally strenuous activities in the trip down the Pacific coast during which several important speeches will be delivered, and then the tour will be concluded through the canal, Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands, before the return to Washington is made via New York.

Mr. Harding probably will sum up the whole trip in a speech in New York on August 28. The president drove 45 miles out on a mountain trail during his Valdez stop and viewed the glaciers.

Tarrant County Has Smallest Criminal Court in America

PORT WORTH, July 20.—Tarrant county, one of the largest counties in the South, now has the smallest county criminal courtroom in the United States. Due to the fact that Tarrant county has a new district court, it was necessary to put it on the second floor of the courthouse, in the room formerly occupied by the county court at law. Judge P. W. Seward, presiding. The room is approximately 25 feet wide and 40 feet deep and contains six benches.

A new courtroom was constructed for Seward's court on the first floor of the courthouse which Seward and his court attaches moved into Wednesday.

As a general rule all criminal courtrooms have to be large enough to accommodate a big crowd due to the interest of the public in criminal trials. As Seward's court hears only criminal cases, it has been asserted by lawyers and courthouse attaches that the new courtroom is not going to be large enough to accommodate the spectators who will want to witness trials.

Some time ago several interested persons asserted that the present courthouse was not large enough to take care of all the county offices. When the matter was discussed with Judge Emmett Moore of the county commissioners' court, he declared that the present courthouse would be able to take care of the county's business for a number of years to come. Wednesday this statement was dismissed by several courthouses of officials, who said that if this was the case, a larger courtroom should have been constructed for the county court at law.

PLAN A NEW SPILWAY FOR TERRELL RESERVOIR

TERRELL, Texas, July 20.—Plans for the construction of a concrete spillway to replace the present dirt and rock one at Lake Terrell, the municipal reservoir, have been accepted, it was announced following a meeting of city commissioners here.

The new spillway which will be constructed at an estimated cost of $10,000 will be 70 feet wide, 500 feet long and 15 feet high. Decision to build the concrete structure followed a narrow escape from heavy damage and no water supply for the city recently when seven and a half inches of rain fell within 48 hours causing flood waters to wash away part of the dam and spillway. ## FRANCE RENEWS AGE-OLD FIGHT

Continue Battle for Supremacy With England

NEW YORK, July 20.—Europe is back to the condition of diplomatic hostilities that existed in the years before the war. Expectation of effective international good will will not be realized because nationalistic ambitions are conflicting as bitterly as in the period antedating 1914.

The break over German reparations in reality only an incident. Eventually the reparations issue must be settled, but no settlement is probable of Anglo-French rivalries. The two nations are beginning to face each other in bellicose attitude in the Mediterranean, while their interests in the Near East cannot be reconciled without a grave retreat by one or the other.

There can be no doubt but that the world is in for a constant series of crises between Great Britain and France, such as put Europe on the uneasy seat many times in the past century. Only the German menace against both France and Great Britain caused the "Entente Cordiale" to be created by the late Edward VII. for mutual protection. There is no longer a German menace directed against Great Britain, and the French government is determined there shall be none against France for the rest of this century.

France and England at Odds. With Germany down and out, France and Great Britain are threatening each other, as has been their customary attitude since the time of William the Conqueror, nearly a thousand years ago, when French rulers governed England, only to lose in turn their French domains.

The persistent major enmity in Europe does not center about the Germans, but about Franco-British rivalries. The French are dreaming of the time when the glories of Louis XIV will be restored and when France once more will dominate the European continent and will force Great Britain to occupy secondary place. That has been the French international creed ever since the downfall of French influence, dating from the time of the Revolution.

Ever before has the time for its realization been as bright as now. The persistent obstinacy of France during the present crisis in the Ruhr, the grave risks French industry and finance are running, the refusal of the Poincare government to agree to any compromise, even though suggested by America, as a neutral nation—all these strange developments can be explained only by the nationalistic ambitions of the French leaders.

France's Opportunity. When the German army was supreme, France had no chance to become dominant in Europe. Likewise, when the British navy vastly outstripped France's strength at sea, France had to stifle her ambitions for the moment.

But now, armies and navies appear to be passing before the advent of airships and bombing planes. That is to say, future mastery in war is less and less likely to depend on vast expenditures for instruments of destruction and on military man-power.

Two men in a cheaply-built airplane may do more damage in the future than many regiments, or batteries of field guns or thirty million-dollar battleships. Therefore, France can look forward hopefully to a recovery of her ancient glories, though her man-power and her treasury are depleted. This is the fundamental factor, dominating all others, in the European situation as it now exists.

'Smart' Bootlegger Buries Treasure in Alley; Loses It

SHERMAN, Texas, July 20.—It was a smart bootlegger that chose to bury his "likker" in an alley here, Patrolman Robertson believes.

Small boys here discovered three half gallon jars of corn liquor in an alley. They reported the find to their father who with Robertson returned to the place and unearthed another half gallon jar and a five gallon jug, partly filled.

The question has arisen as to whether a complaint should be filed against the city, since the liquor was found buried on city property.

When the son called, he too became "hard boiled," according to officers, and it was necessary to "fix 'em both up."

WOMEN DEMAND AN AMENDMENT

'Party' Claims Sex Still Under Big Handicap

SENECA FALLS, N. Y., July 20.—A constitutional amendment providing for the absolute equality of women with men before the law was endorsed by the annual conference of the National Woman's party in its second session here today.

The wording of the amendment which the conference approved is: "Men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction."

Introduction of amendment in congress will be secured by the party next winter through some sympathetic member.

The amendment was submitted to the party convention here today by Miss Alice Paul, of New Jersey, vice-president.

In laying the proposed amendment before the convention Miss Paul declared that in her opinion, "the only way in which complete equality can be gained for all women within a reasonable time is by federal amendment, just as the right to vote was gained for women throughout the country in that way."

She detailed many cases of discrimination between men and women before the law which the amendment is designed to eliminate.

First Voiced in 1848. Miss Paul suggested that the amendment be called the Lucretia Mott amendment, in recognition of the fact that it put in one sentence the demand for complete equality voiced by Lucretia Mott and her co-workers, who convened the first equal rights meeting here in 1848.

The conference, in addition to voting for equality of a national amendment, endorsed an aggressive campaign for equal rights measures in the various states.

At an evening session of the convention tonight, the first equal rights meeting held here in July, 1848, will be celebrated by a pageant depicting the early session of the pioneers of the feminist movement. Mrs. H. O. Havemeyer, New York, one of the founders of the party will preside and be the principal speaker. Mrs. Havemeyer is expected to emphasize the historical significance of the action taken today in voting to support a constitutional amendment.

The conference opened its business session here under the presidency of Mrs. O. H. Belmont.

The conference convened last night with hundreds of women in attendance. The convention is held here in celebration of the 75th anniversary of the first equal rights meeting in the United States here in July, 1848.

Mrs. Belmont in her opening address said:

"In Seneca Falls we stand on consecrated ground, the birthplace of women's emancipation where 75 years ago women came together to tell the world that slavery could no longer hold half the race."

Went Full Equality.

"The woman's party today is working for nothing more than the complete fulfillment of the demand for equality made here in 1848. In three-quarters of a century complete equality has been won only in the vote. Discriminations continue to exist in

"RAGS" AND CHARLEY BAKER

NEWARK, N. J., July 20.—"Rags" is just a stray, no account poodle without pedigree or owner.

No one would pay the price of a dog license to keep him.

Yet when he tumbled down a hole between two buildings, the police and fire departments of a whole city went to work rescuing him.

For 20 hours they worked before they could get the little dog out. And then, only after doing considerable damage to the buildings.

But fireman Charley Baker who finally reached the dog, says it was well worth it.

education, in industry, in the professions, in political office, in marriage, in personal freedom, in control of property, in guardianship of children in making contracts, in the church and in the double moral standard.

"We have carried out only a part of the command, the fight must go on. Let every woman here consecrate herself to toil to the end that women as well as men, shall be free in the United States."

Wide bands of chauntilly or wide meshed laces are introduced in the new summer frocks of organdie and georgette.

Threatened to 'Hail' Sal in Neighbor's House, Is Arrested

HAN ARTHUR, Texas, July 20.—Repercussions that threaten with a period of lawlessness, have been threatened in a "hail" case involving a 16-year-old girl, Cecilia, of (threatening another woman. The complaint was filed against the young woman by a rival beauty of "Little Mexico."

The trouble started during the Cinco de Mayo celebrations, when the girl's father danced often and too well with the rival.

The trouble came when she threw a handful of salt through the front door of her rival's home.

The salt superstition is of Aztec origin but is believed by many present day Mexicans.

Negro Killed After Answering Knock

PALESTINE, Texas, July 20.—Probably the oldest person in the state is "Aunt" Priscilla Anderson, negroes of this city who, according to records was born 114 years ago.

The aged negroess was born in Alabama in 1809 and came to Texas long before this state was a member of the Union. She came here with the colony of people which first settled Fort Houston and can remember the building of the first log cabin.

She can talk for hours about the pioneer days and though her eyesight and hearing have become somewhat impaired as the years passed by, her mind is still active.

Leonard, Tendler Halt Training to Rest for Monday's Bout

Both 'Boys' Return To Native Homes to Await Fight Gong

Fandom Expects to Witness Grudge Battle When Lightweight Scrappers Mix Up for World's Title in Gotham Arena Monday

NEW YORK, July 20.—Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler, who are to battle here Monday night for the world's lightweight championship, will knock off their training tonight. Leonard plans to return to his mother's apartment up in Harlem and Tendler will return to his home in Philadelphia to await the first official act of the program which comes with the weighing in at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Some concern is being felt about Leonard's ability to make the weight, but Billy Gibson, his manager, said today that the champion was under 135 pounds now, and that he would not fill out too much before the day of the fight.

Leonard, who makes good use of his talking mechanism in and out of the ring, has been directing verbal shots at the his training camp up in the Catskills.

There is no press agent stuff in the story that there is little love lost between Tendler and Leonard. The falling out came when Tendler grabbed a $5000 forfeit after Leonard had broken his hand and could not go through with a scheduled in Philadelphia sometime back. It is understood that Tendler returned the forfeit money recently.

All of the experts who have looked over the champion in training say that he seems to be in perfect condition. His two fights with Pinkie Mitchell and Alex Hart apparently got him back on edge after his hitch on the stage last winter.

Tendler, according to those who have seen the challenger, is also in good physical and mental fettle. The Philadelphia southpaw claims that while Leonard may have found out a lot about his left handed fighting in the last meeting that he himself has learned how to close his ears and hear nothing when Benny starts his monologue in the ring.

Evans Holds Unique Place in Golfdom

To an amateur golfer, Chick Evans goes the unique distinction of registering the lowest score ever made in winning a national open championship.

In 1916 playing over the Minikahda Club course at Minneapolis, Minn., Evans played remarkable golf, capturing the championship with a score of 286. It required marvelous golf to win, as the always dangerous Jack Hutchinson finished second with 288. The year 1916 was a big one in the golfing career of Evans. Not only did he win the national open with the lowest score in the history of the event but he also won the national amateur, thereby taking the two big titles in golf.

Evans is a youngster in years but a veteran in the golfing world. He is still one of the most feared men in the game.

AMERICA COPS SPORTS HONORS

Yank Athletes Override Best Of England

By PAUL R. MALLON

NEW YORK, July 20.—America has carried off the honors in early season international sport competition.

Yank athletes, who sailed to Europe this spring and summer to meet the best of the old continent in competition, have returned with unprecedented laurels.

The American Walker cup team started off when, with a brilliant sprint the U. S. golfers came from behind and downed the Britishers. It was a victory for Yankee coolness and courage.

Ten Charlie Paddock went to France, despite the protestations of the A. A. U. and smashed a few records for French spectators. The American girl swimming champions also went over, but they heeded the demands of the A. A. U. and did not compete.

William M. Johnston borrowed a tennis racket and cleaned up the hard courts at St. Cloud, France, defeating all comers for the championship of the world.

American golf professionals went to Troon and, although they lost first place to the brilliant Britisher Arthur Havers, they took the next three places and played the best collective golf of the tournament. In prize matches they carried the honors and won the most of the money.

Then, for the climax, Johnston and Francis T. Hunter decided to stage an all-American final in the all-English tournament. They beat down the British men in the singles and won first and second place for America.

Only Vincent Richards, the youthful Yankee star, fell below the mark that had been hopefully set for him, but the performance of Johnston and Hunter more than made up for this.

The matches at Wimbledon proved what already had been known—that the United States probably has the best three tennis players in the world. The three can be selected from Will Tilden, the champion; Bill Johnston, Francis Hunter and Vincent Richards.

With this array of stars there seems to be no doubt about who is going to retain the Davis cup.

But it also was shown that America is woefully weak in the doubles, mixed doubles and women's singles. This is a situation that should be remedied, if someone could induce the stars to bend their efforts toward team play.

Is it not enough that America should have the best players. She should have the best teams.

ELKS RETURN TO SULPHUR SUNDAY

Cliff Gunn Accepts Request For Fourth Game

With perhaps the strongest team Port Arthur's Elks have ever sent to the field, Skipper Cliff Gunn will leave here Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, again, bound for Sulphur Mines, La., where the fourth game of the season against that contingent will be played Sunday afternoon.

Invited back by Sulphur because of their unusual clean sportsmanship, and because they have been dubbed in Sulphur "the best team that ever came down," the Elks could not refuse the honor, and have agreed to return for a Sunday encounter.

Skipper Gunn said last night that the Sulphur Mines were anxious to have the local Elk contingent over for the week-end, playing both Saturday and Sunday, but due to the fact that a number of the local players found it impossible to be in Sulphur on Saturday, Manager Gunn only accepted the Sunday date.

A large crowd of fans accompanied the team last Sunday to the diamond, and it is expected even a larger crew will go there this Sunday for the game. The treatment recorded the Port Arthurians, both ball players and visitors, was declared by those who enjoyed it as being the most royal, and the word has already been passed around that "we're going to get another of those good chicken dinners Sunday."

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 20.—McAlester and Henretta clubs of the Western Association were dropped from the league at a meeting of the league here last night. Players on the two teams were taken over by other clubs in the league.

Still Use Beckett And Carpenter to Conjure Ring Dough

Georges Carpentier and Joe Beckett still are names with which to conjure money and publicity in Europe. The favor they staged recently when they went through all the motions of being matched again in a new fight, occupied columns of the London newspapers.

It seems Beckett's hands are bad. The Englishman said he couldn't fight on July 19, the date first set for the contest. Carpenter then asked that the match be made for July 20, but Beckett frowned on that.

Then Carpenter went to a doctor and had his hands examined. Carpenter's physicians said his hands were in worse condition than Beckett's.

Beckett's physicians contended his hands were in worse condition than Carpenter's.

So the only fight anyone could stir up between these two beaten ex-champions who were sought for a "consolation" match, was over who had the worst hands.

It seems to be a draw.
